The International Center of the Capital Region welcomed the Higher Education Accrediting Commission of the Dominican Republic this May.

The delegation met with members of the New York State Board of Regents to discuss their work of accreditation in New York State

The group met with Susan Birkhead, Director of Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing to discuss their recent accreditation process, and nursing accreditation

The Capital Region's diversity is reflected in its places of worship. Enjoy a unique guided bus tour visiting six (6) locations. View the symbols and architecture and hear the history of the area's religious institutions. The ICCR continues to work with places of worship around our community to help showcase our religious diversity, and beautiful architecture. We will be visiting different locations never visited in past years, and we hope you will attend.

The group was able to unwind and reflect on their experiences in the United States, and discuss the important information that is going to help shape how educational institutions are accredited in the Dominican Republic
